

STORY OF THE MASSACRE OF OUR BRAVE TROOPS ON ISLAND OF SAMAR.

Captain Connell met His Death Fighting to the Last— Sergeant with a Rifle did Effective Work— Fierce Hand to Hand Combat.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 13.—Among the arrivals by the steamer Empress of China from the Orient was Lieutenant F. E. Allison of the United States navy, who is on his way home from Manila. Speaking of the massacre of the members of the Ninth Infantry at Samar, he said the natives had grown to like the colored troops who had been stationed there, and when the Ninth arrived it was thought by the American troops that the same friendly feeling would be shown to them and the guard was not as strictly kept as it otherwise would have been.

The night before the massacre the village president came to Captain Connell and before the Padre declared that it would take 100 more homes (native laborers) to do certain pioneer work. He did not have the men and begged the indulgence of the army captain.

Honest and true to the legitimate discharge of his duty, Captain Connell said: "Do the best you can. Get any natives who will work, but clear away the underbrush."

Just after daybreak the natives with holos to cut underbrush began coming into camp. Then the massacre began. The last underbrush man killed the sentry, the church bell rang, the soldiers went to breakfast below the floor that held their arms; the insurgents separated; half went upstairs and shot down, and the other half went in the mess room and murdered the unarmed soldiers by force of numbers.

Not one of the survivors turned his back upon the scene of carnage until all was lost, the officers fallen, their comrades slaughtered and a terrible vengeance executed upon the enemy. They then saved themselves and their wounded mates.

Captain Connell, apparently, was awakened in his quarters by the utterance of a shot. He was alone so he hurried from the window, down among his guards, but the guards had all been slaughtered.

He was struck down by many bolts almost as soon as he struck the ground. Not satisfied with killing him, the assassins hacked his body into bits, severing the head, upon which they piled paper and sticks of wood, setting them afire to render the face unrecognizable. The body, however, was identified by Lieutenant Drouillard's detachment, which came down from Basey.

Separated from their weapons, most of the rank and file fought like heroes with table knives, stones, clubs and such rude weapons as chance threw in their way. It was a bitter fate that befell the blackamoors who fled with the Americans before they had received their death wounds. Some of the native dead were buried by their own crew before they fled, but Colonel De Russey ordered 150 more to be thrown into a trench.

A rifle in the hands of the First Sergeant of the company rendered a terrible account. The sergeant, who is now in the Tereblan Hospital, killed the faithless President, who led the attack. With six men he fought his way to the headquarters building to see if they could rescue or pick up a stricken comrade. Despite the mad rushes of the savages that surrounded them, they were able to secure the post colors. Then they cut their way back to the beach, where another little knot of comrades were defending the Eurolas and their wounded companions.

Lieutenant Allison says there are 7,000 troops in Samar. He says these have been a number of filibustering expeditions fitted out in Singapore and Hong Kong, mostly by Germans, which in some cases have succeeded in landing their contraband arms and ammunition, but many captures have been made by the gunboats.

PLANNED TO MURDER FRIEND IN COLD BLOOD.

SAN JOSE, Calif., Nov. 13.—Frank Newman, the 19-year-old boy from San Francisco who shot and wounded a young man named Arps near Guadalupe last evening, made a statement today in which he said that he shot Arps without provocation.

He said that he was returning with Arps from a hunt, and that when Arps was a few feet in advance a sudden impulse compelled him to shoot. He raised his gun and fired, then rifled the pockets of the wounded man and hastened home. As he was leaving Arps staggered to his feet, seized his gun and fired at Newman, but without effect. Newman then stated that the shot struck Arps in the neck and that he robbed him to prevent others from getting the money, and the tendency to turn the murder over to the police.

Arps tells a somewhat different story. He says they were walking along in friendly conversation when without a word of warning Newman shot him. Newman then shot again. He then feigned death while his pockets were being rifled. When this job was over he again moved, and Newman put some shells in his gun for a third shot. Then Newman said he mustered up strength enough to seize his rifle and fired at Newman, who turned and fled. Arps was wounded in the face and in the shoulder.

The wounded man's full name is M. A. Arps, and he is third mate of the steamer Newport which arrived from Panama ten days ago. Not feeling well he obtained shore leave to visit his uncle near Guadalupe. He says both he and Newman were perfectly sober when the shooting occurred. After being shot he dragged himself to his uncle's place, fainting six times on the way. At the saloon where they drank before going on the hunt Arps showed a gold piece and said he was going to San Francisco next day.

The Chaco also picked up the first officer and two of the crew of the bark Glencairn, Captain English, which sailed from Shields May 18th for San Francisco. The Glencairn was lost off Point Marguerite, Staten Island. The captain, second officer, third officer and the rest of the crew were drowned.

Miss Wackerman has been staying at the Hotel Cecil for a fortnight and until last night she did not attract any special attention. DIMMICK JURY IS NOW OUT

Jurors File Into Court and Ask For Further Instructions.

Confession Made to Supt. Leach Is a Large Issue in the Present Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—The closing argument in the Dimmick case was completed by ex-Judge Denson today, and at noon Judge De Haven began his charge to the jury. It was quite lengthy, occupying thirty-five minutes.

Judge De Haven instructed the jury to acquit three of the counts. He said if they believed Superintendent Leach, they should consider the confession which Dimmick is said to have made as evidence.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the jury did not seem to be able to agree. The jury was brought in to court and asked that they be given a copy of the rules of the Treasury and the exhibits in the case.

The jury also requested that the Judge's charge be read again. These requests were granted and the jury again retired.

ONLY NINE ARE AT LARGE.

Escaped Convicts are Being Gathered in by Officers in Many Counties.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13.—Only nine of the convicts who escaped from the Leavenworth penitentiary are now at large. Warden McClaughry received this morning a message from his deputies near Cottonwood Falls, where four men were captured last night, saying that they were close on the heels of two others. One of these is believed to be Arthur Hewitt, aged 23, white, who is serving five years for larceny and who is the last of the leaders of the outbreak. The leaders were Thompson, Mullins, Southard and Hewitt. Warden McClaughry yesterday offered an increased reward for Southard. From stories that have leaked out from the captured convicts, it is evident that the plan of the dash for liberty last Wednesday to kill both Deputy Warden Lemon and Captain Treford, the officers in immediate charge at the time. Treford was forced to flee with the convicts, and when they had gotten a sufficient distance from the penitentiary he was threatened with death. He took desperate chances and succeeded in escaping.

As soon as this is properly equipped a large part of the work now done at the Cavite navy yard will be transferred to Olongapo, and in addition the latter yard can undertake repairs for the larger vessels of the Asiatic fleet which are now repaired expensively at Hongkong. It is a part of the project to ship the Cavite floating dock to Olongapo to supply immediate docking needs, and until permanent docks can be constructed.

OAKLAND'S CHANCE TO SECURE ONE OF THE BIG PLANTS OF THE COUNTRY.

Board of Trade May Locate an Immense Manufacturing Plant Here—Six Hundred Acres of Land Contiguous to Deep Water Wanted.

Craigie Sharpe, secretary of the Board of Trade, is looking for a 500 acre tract of land contiguous to Oakland with deep water frontage, railway facilities and other accessories to a mammoth manufacturing plant. If anybody knows of such a tract being for sale on reasonable terms, Mr. Sharpe would be glad to get the particulars.

He says an Eastern concern desires to secure such a tract as above described as the site of a manufacturing establishment embracing rolling mills, copper smelting works and various other branches of mechanical industry, and he has been searching high and low for a piece of land that will fill the bill.

A suitable piece of land has been offered at Dumbarton Point, but that is too far away from Oakland to be of any great shakes. The Eastern people want to get close to this town, and the Board of Trade doesn't want to see them locate anywhere else. It would do no good to Oakland to have them erect their plant at Dumbarton Point.

But the outlook is not favorable. Mr. Sharpe has walked down Washington street and up Broadway without finding what he was looking for. He has traveled from Adams' wharf to the Sixteenth street station in a vain search for a tract meeting the requirements, and he is afraid that Oakland will yet lose the plum that he has picked out of a Christmas pie to sweeten the palate of this town. From what he says, this is really an enormous affair that will employ two or three thousand operatives. He has labored hard to bring it here, and it will be unfortunate if his efforts should fail because nobody can be found with 500 acres of land with deep water frontage to sell.

PRESIDENTS AND KINGS ALIKE.

King Edward Will Not Make Any Distinction at the Corona- tion Exercises.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—In view of the recent attitude of Count Goluchowski, the Austrian Hungarian Foreign Minister, in regard to the differences in the standing of the heads of republics and of monarchies, the dictum of King Edward, holding that the honors to be paid to presidents and crowned heads at the time of his majesty's coronation shall be identical, has special interest. The question arose during a discussion of the details of the decorations to be bestowed and the mode of entertainment for the heads of state attending the coronation. The King refused point blank to distinguish between the titles of President, King and Emperor, arguing that his object was to honor the state and not the man. No distinctions will be made except possibly in the case of the near relatives of the royal family.

PLANNED TO BEAT INSURANCE MEN.

The Kentucky Swindler Wanted a Wife to Help Him Carry Out His Plans.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 12.—Newell C. Rathbun, who is in jail on suspicion of having murdered Charles Goodman in Jeffersonville, made another damaging admission to the detectives today. For the first time he admitted that he had a confederate in Little Rock and when closely pushed by Chief of Detectives Sullivan stated that his wife was in part of the conspiracy although he insisted that she was entirely innocent of the conspiracy to put any man out of the way. At first Rathbun stated that his only confederate was a deserter from the regular army by the name of Blanchard, but he finally admitted that this was false and that Blanchard was fictitious.

The admissions of Captain Sullivan were greeted today by news from Little Rock that a Miss Evelyn Taylor had stated that Rathbun had proposed a very similar plot of defrauding an insurance company to her and said that if she would marry him and carry out her part he would send a corpse home; that it could be buried as he said and that he and she would divide the insurance.

Rathbun said:

"I only told part of the truth so far. I arranged this thing with my wife in Little Rock long ago. I told her that I would find a corpse and that she was to arrange for it to be buried and then to collect the insurance; and in time I would desert from the army again and I would meet her at some place and then we would divide it."

After making this statement Rathbun said his wife knew nothing of any plot to commit murder or set fire to a hotel.

"Indeed," he said, "no murder was committed, for I did not kill Goodman. I might have told him it was necessary, but he died of natural causes."

WILL WEAR NEW STARS
Nedderman and Phillips Out and Byrne and Smith Go on the Force.

At a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners this morning, Police Officers Henry Nedderman and L. R. Phillips were placed on the retired list with an annual pension of $600. Both officers have passed the age limit, although Nedderman claims he is but 43 years of age, while the records show he is 51. In regard to this Nedderman admits that he has forgotten his real age. Both men produced certificates signed by Health Officer Edward von Adlung showing that they were disabled by an affection of the heart, which prevented them from performing their duties as police officers.

Both officers will serve until December 1st before retiring.

In compliance with the resolution of the Board, Chief of Police Hocking submitted a report on the record and eligibility to retirement of Phillips and Nedderman.

According to the report Nedderman was appointed a special officer October 1st, 1874. He was appointed a regular police officer on March 23d, 1875. He was dismissed December 19, 1881, and reappointed February 15th, 1882. He was appointed a regular police officer on May 11, 1886, and has served continuously up to the present time since that date. Nedderman's total service aggregates twenty-five years, 9 months and 2 days.

According to the same report Phillips is 44 years and has served for 23 years, 5 months and 22 days. He was appointed a special officer May 20, 1875, and a regular officer May 18, 1882. He was appointed a regular police officer after the latter's retirement. Councilman Bon is given the credit of securing his appointment.

James H. Smith Jr., now a special police officer, was appointed a regular police officer, vice D. L. Phillips, retired, the appointment to take effect December 1st. Smith is a brother of Police Judge Mortimer Smith.

A resolution was adopted appointing Charles Brock Jr., driver of Engine Company No. 1, as a special police officer. This place was made vacant by the promotion of James H. Smith, who was temporarily filling the place of Henry McCloy, temporarily retired.

SCHAFFER SAYS NOME CASE IN COURT
With Introduction of "Bible Readings" in Schools.

"Some of the people in my ward have got the notion in their heads that I am in some way responsible for the introduction of Bible readings in the high schools," said Councilman Louis Schaffer, "many of them are opposed to the change and are finding fault with me about it. I wish to state that the Council has nothing to do with prescribing the studies in the schools. That rests alone with the Board of Education, who must take the responsibility in this instance for there is nobody else who shoulders the blame."

"I know nothing about the change," he said, "I saw it published in the papers. I suppose every other member of the Council was equally in the dark on the subject unless some of them were privately informed. As a fact the Board of Education does not consult with other departments of the city government only when they want money, and then they resort to any sort of inquiry into the way they spend it and seek out any suggestion that does not chime with their wishes."

"As far as the 'Bible Readings' themselves are concerned, I would say that I am in favor of every child being taught to read the Scriptures and study the great truths they convey at home, or Sunday school. I hardly think making 'Bible Readings' a compulsory study in the public schools is either wise or politic. It is strongly opposed by many, and seems to me to be a violation of the constitutional provision as it tends to introduce religious questions of a sectarian character into the system of education."

The public mind is disposed to regard such an innovation with suspicion and disfavor owing to a recent experience in which religious bigotry and political persecution figured in alliance. Introducing 'Bible Readings' in the public schools will tend to revive the bitter feelings which fortunately are now disappearing to return, it is to be hoped, to their normal state. The spirit of them will be interpreted by leaders and prejudiced by their own. In the community will look upon them, whether rightly or wrongly, as an infringement of their rights. It seems to me unwise to do anything that will stir up religious and political passions, especially as it is wholly unnecessary in this instance."

MAN OF MYSTERY IN TAYLOR'S OFFICE.

An odd incident happened at the City Tax Collector's office this morning. A man came in and asked one of the clerks to give him the tax bill against a certain piece of property. The rule in such cases, the clerk inquired the name and address of the owner. This man refused to give, but made a peremptory demand for the tax bill.

In a quandary the clerk appealed to City Treasurer Taylor, who is ex-officio Tax Collector. Mr. Taylor went out and told the man that it was necessary for him to identify persons asking for tax bills, so that he could get them back if not paid, explaining that it would entail time and expense in case the bills were lost or not returned to make out new ones. Still the applicant persisted in his refusal to give his name. Mr. Taylor then asked the advice of City Attorney Johnson, who advised him that he had a right to know the names and addresses of persons before delivering tax bills to them.

But the man had departed, leaving the office wondering why he had come and why he should desire to conceal his identity.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Judge Morrow today rendered a decision in the case of Lee Gon Yung, a Chinese who was denied admission here, although he claimed to be en route to Mexico.

It was a case similar to one decided by Judge De Haven, in both instances Chinese subjects feeling that the Chinese government was being injured by the denial of entry to the border. Judge Morrow holds that he has no jurisdiction and that the Treasury regulations should govern.

CALLAGHAN DENIES THE CHARGES OF INTIMIDATION.

The case of Public Administrator Joseph J. Callaghan was on trial again today before Judge Hall in the Superior Court. The defendant was on the stand and told how he had cared for Mrs. Ems for some time before her death, how she had promised to deed and did deed him the house and ready consideration of that care and how he had paid taxes and water rates on the same.

R. H. Callaghan, the insurance man who drew up a deed of Mrs. Ems' in the case and who was charged by Attorney Dodge with having intimidated some of the witnesses for the Public Administrator, was placed on the stand and questioned as to whether or not he had not intimidated witnesses Vargas and Pereira in the case.

Mr. Callaghan gave an emphatic denial to the charges, declaring that he had never used the language imputed to him. During part of the time said to have been spent in making the alleged threats, Callaghan said he was in the company of Attorney Walsh, who substantiated witness' denial.

The case is nearing a close.

CAMPAIGN FOR JUNIOR FARCE VOTES. AT CALIFORNIA.

Educators of Alameda Open the Bond Election Issue With Lively Statement.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 13.—At a meeting of the Board of Education last night the matter of bringing the school bond question before the citizens of Alameda was settled. It was decided that a committee of sixteen consisting of the Board of Education and Secretary, five members of the Board of Trade, to be selected by the president of that body, and five citizens at large, to be selected by the president of the Board of Education, should be selected at once.

This committee will meet next Monday night and devise ways and means of bringing the bond question properly before the citizens.

At a previous meeting Director Sloan brought up the point that the Board had no right to expend public money for the purpose of advising the people of the matter on hand. Last night City Attorney Simpson, to whom the point had been referred, reported that the board had power to expend its funds for the purpose mentioned.

Dr. Keys then stated that it was the desire of the Board that all voters, whether they voted in favor of the bonds or not, should have a correct understanding of the exact condition of affairs, and to do so he moved that circulars be issued from time to time setting forth the bond question in full.

The motion was passed and another motion accepting the following notice was adopted and the same signed by four of the directors:

"To Voters:—Every citizen of Alameda knows that the public schools are in sore need of additional accommodations. The bond issue is to raise money to supply the deficit. The needed room is to be obtained as follows:

"1. By building additions to the Maclellan and Wilson Grammar School buildings, and

"2. By purchasing a site and erecting a brick High School building.

"The new edifice will restore the Porter School, now in part occupied by the High School, to its original purpose of a grammar and primary school, from which it became necessary to divert in order to accommodate the 24th School pupils.

"The above propositions will give ample room to elevate the younger children from the basement rooms to the first story, besides making way future provision for a steadily increasing school population.

"Alameda has and will continue to have a High School, and she ought to have a suitable, independent building to house its 350 pupils—a number likely to be increased by at least fifty per cent, if Berkeley's experience is any criterion.

"Note the towns that have built High Schools within a few years: Oakland, Berkeley, Fresno, Stockton, San Jose, Salinas, Santa Barbara, San Francisco, Riverside.

"Alameda going to be a back number? Is she going to keep pace with her neighbors? Can she make a more profitable investment of funds? Is there any better method of attracting desirable residents to our city and increasing the population and revenue? The argument of greatly increased taxation is not sound. How much more will the increase be? Five and six cents per $100 for the first year and one and four-cents for the last. In other words, a citizen assessed for $200 would have to pay $12 extra for the first year and forty-five cents extra for the last year—and this computation is based on the hypothesis that the assessed value of all property will be no greater than now. Make the computation yourself!"

"A two-thirds vote is required to carry the bonds. Let every elector cast his ballot.

"FRANK OHIS, President.
"J. M. KEYS, "C. A. BROWN,
"W. K. SCOTT,
"Members of the Board of Education."

TOLD A CLEVER STORY TO GET OUT OF JAIL.

Charles Miller, the man who got Charles Pepper, the Fruitvale saloon man, to cash a Wells-Fargo receipt for $15, was found not guilty of intent to defraud this morning in the Police Court and dismissed by Judge Smith on the condition that he return the $15 to Pepper.

The story told by Miller is that he had both the receipt and the original order for $15. While in a maudlin condition, Miller says, he gave Pepper the receipt by mistake and got $15 for it. With the money he went to San Francisco and had a gay time. He then discovered that he had the original money order in his pocket and that he had defrauded his friend Tupper. Before he could make any effort to rectify his error he was arrested on a warrant charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Why Don't You Seek Relief?

A really healthy woman has little pain or discomfort at the menstrual period. No woman needs to have any. Wine of Cardui will relieve all those smarting menstrual pains and dragging head, back and side aches caused by falling of the womb and irregular menses.

March 29, 1900, Mrs. W. H. Jones, of Cameron, Mo., wrote the following to The Chattanooga Medicine Company: "I ask you for advice for the treatment of my complaint. I hear a great many women in my condition are cured by Wine of Cardui, so I send for the medicine." The medicine was sent with plain directions regarding treatment required, and August 31, 1900, she wrote again: "Perhaps you will remember Mrs. W. H. Jones who wrote to you six months ago asking for advice which you so kindly gave her. I never will be able to thank you enough for it. I suffered terribly at my monthly periods for three years. I would sometimes go for seven months with no flow at all. Now I have my health back again and am expecting to be confined in January. I cannot praise your medicine enough."

WINE OF CARDUI

has brought permanent relief to 1,000,000 women who suffered every month. It makes the menstrual organs strong and healthy and gives women relief from the terrible aches and pains that blight so many homes. The only thing necessary is to seek relief—to go to a drug store and get a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui and take the medicine in the privacy of your own home.

Greenwood, La., October 14, 1900.

I have been very sick for some time. I was taken with a severe pain in my side and could not get any relief until I tried a bottle of Wine of Cardui. Before I had taken all of it I was relieved. I feel it my duty to say that you have a wonderful medicine.

ANNEXATION OF CUBA. THE EXCLUSION ACT.

A southern Democratic paper says: "Annexation of Cuba should be inscribed on the banners of the Democratic party." Ever since Jefferson's day the Democratic party has had a hankering after Cuba, and encouraged more than one filibustering expedition to bring about annexation. It is characteristic that a demand should now come from Democrats that the island be annexed to the United States. The demand also illustrates the inconsistency of the attitude of the Democrats during the last campaign, when they assailed the Republican administration for acquiring new territory. They declared that the temporary military occupation was merely a preliminary to seizing the island without consulting the wishes of the inhabitants.

It is quite true that the law is sometimes evaded. So are all laws. There will be violations and evasions of any statute, but the general workings must be taken as the standard of efficiency. Judged by this the Exclusion Act accomplishes its purpose. Now and then a Chinaman goes through the barrier it is raised by false swearing and the like, but the method is too costly to be popular. No great number can come in by that loophole. Occasionally a few manage to sneak over the line from Canada or Mexico, but that route too is expensive and dangerous. Those who take it are frequently caught and deported.

While the present law works fairly well, it has suggested a better. Or all the legislation on the subject this law is the only thing that has accomplished what it was intended to do. In view of that fact, it is rather late in the day for pro-Chinese advocates to raise a complaint about its efficiency. No complaint is heard out here. The law is all right and the Pacific coast will be content to have it remain in force.

The Louisville Courier-Journal lets loose a whole flock of crowing roosters on its front page in joy over the Democratic successes in Kentucky. It shows how hard put for a showing the Democrats are, when they crow like this over a victory in Kentucky.

ALL RIGHT DONCHER KNOW.

The London papers are pleased to take Senator Lodge's speech kindly and to express the opinion in true Podsnap style that if he voices the sentiments of President Roosevelt England will get on properly with the United States. This sounds right cheerful and cheer know. We not not what would have happened had our friends across the water taken the Senator's words ill.

There have been times when Henry Cabot Lodge did not please them so well with his pointed talk. However, since the war with Spain and the buffet administered to the Householder troops by the rude Boers, our English friends have been a little less high-stomached than in days ago. Doubtless we shall get on well with them, as, indeed, we should, but it must be on a footing which maintains our self respect.

This Yankee nation is not going to play second fiddle to anybody, least of all put up with any big brother airs from John Bull. In the Venezuela matter, and again with respect to the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty we have given them to understand that we will stand no nonsense. In matters commercial and industrial we have shown them a thing or two worth knowing and taught a many that there were well to be on good terms with us even if we are a bit cocky about our performances. This country is spreading and must have a wide place in the road for passage way. If we get that, all right. But if not, there'll be trouble. To come down to brass tacks, the British seem to realize the situation and understand that a "young un" a deal stronger and cleverer has entered the ring, as the sports say. Old England is right and tidy, hearty as a buck and as bold as a black eye, and here's to her, but Cousin Johnnie holds the center of the stage at present. It is time for the others to go way back and sit down.

Calve and her dog furnish fruitful advertising sort of the over-pleasant sort for the Grain Company. Clear across the continent she has had a succession of rows with hotel managers because she could not take her dog into rooms in violation of hotel rules. She has went and laid hysterics and fell sick with petish rage because she could not have a public way. At Nashville she made a public spectacle of herself and made life a misery to her attendants. She is beautiful and has a glorious voice, but, heavens—what a taste and what a temper!

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NOTES.

Ebell Ladies Have an Enjoyable Afternoon—Doll Show at Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Louise Allender was the hostess at a pretty tea yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Bertha Young and Miss Mae Young. Mrs. Allender's guests were: Mrs. E. G. Lukens, Mrs. E. J. Cotton, Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld, Mrs. A. L. Long, Mrs. D. M. Proctor, Mrs. William H. Vans, Mrs. E. W. Engle, Mrs. George Gross, Miss Mabel Gage, Mrs. George de Galla, Miss Bertha Young, Miss Mae Young, Miss Belle Nicholson and Miss Carrie Nicholson.

The wedding of Miss Annie M. Mason of Berkeley to Dr. Frank W. Simpson took place last night in the First Presbyterian Church, the pastor, Rev. George B. Hatch, officiating. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mason, 225 Dwight way.

A doll show and musicale will be given by the King's Daughters of the Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening, November 15.

The church parties will be elaborately decorated with autumn colors and given open for the occasion. With the money gained from the affair the organization will send some boxes of the Indians of Humboldt county. Miss Nellie McGraw, formerly one of the society, is a missionary among those Indians.

There will be an Indian lunch in charge of Mrs. A. S. Larkay, who will be assisted by a number of the young girls of the church.

Among those who will make the entertainment successful are Miss Augusta Klose, the president of the King's Daughters; Miss Clara, the secretary; Miss Harriet Burdick, the treasurer; Mrs. E. E. Lukens, Miss Mabel Gage, Mrs. A. L. Long, Mrs. Frank McLaughlin, Mrs. A. S. Larkay, Miss Harriet G. Simpson, Mrs. Sue Mann, Mrs. William A. Reginald Goodell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goodell, formerly of this city, but now of San Bernardino, has passed law examinations before the Supreme Court of Los Angeles and returned to Oakland to open offices with Mrs. V. Mendall.

The Monday Waist Club was entertained yesterday by the Misses Nicholson at their home on Eighth street. Three new members, Mrs. E. A. Proctor, Mrs. Lee Egan and Mrs. Alice Maynard, were received into the club. After several enjoyable games, refreshments were served. Mrs. C. B. Parsons and Mrs. E. J. Cotton carried off the prizes.

The Ebell luncheon was largely attended yesterday. A comfortable crowd filled the comfortable clubrooms. Miss Chrysanthemum adorned the tables, and the many handsome dresses worn contributed greatly to the brilliancy of the scene. Among the guests were a number of well known women from San Francisco and elsewhere. Mrs. Alice Maynard was an honored guest and had intended addressing the ladies of Ebell, but owing to a severe cold was unable to do so, much to the regret of those present. Miss Jane Klink, a prominent club woman of San Francisco, gave a short talk on "The Art of Conversation."

An interesting feature of the afternoon was an address by Mrs. E. Thompson on "The Standard of Living." The subject of the standard of living was the subject of the general discussion. She gave a short outline of her researches into the subject. The address was heard in several sections. The musical part of the program was under the direction of Mrs. Hayward G. Thomas. Several selections were rendered by Miss Elsie Arden and Miss Edith Banks, both of San Francisco. They were accompanied by Miss Florence Hyde, also from San Francisco. The program was very successful. Mrs. E. J. Cotton, Mrs. A. L. Long, Mrs. D. M. Proctor, Mrs. William H. Vans, Mrs. E. W. Engle, Mrs. George Gross, Miss Mabel Gage, Mrs. George de Galla, Miss Bertha Young, Miss Mae Young, Miss Belle Nicholson and Miss Carrie Nicholson.

His Borrowed Bath Tub. Dr. Von Lauer, who was personal medical attendant to the old Emperor William, should be an amusing sight in the simplicity of that monarch's tastes. The palace under him London, on the balcony of which the Kaiser was so often to be seen, suited His Majesty admirably. But it was not luxurious.

Among other shortcomings there was no bathroom. On the occasion, not so frequent as would be the case now, when the Kaiser wished to bathe, a bath was invariably borrowed, says Dr. Lauer, from a neighboring hotel. The emperor was perfectly satisfied with the arrangement, and so was the proprietor, who received three marks for the hire of his bath.

MRS. HULDA JAKEMAN

Wife of President Jakeman of Elders of the Mormon Church, Salt Lake City, Utah, Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound For Women's Periodic Pains.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Before I knew of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I dreaded the approach of the time for my menstrual period, as it would mean a couple of days in bed with intense pain and suffering. I was under the physicians' care for over a year without any relief, when my attention was called to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by several of our Mormon women who had been cured through its use. I began its systematic use and after the use of six bottles my health was completely restored, and for over two years I have had neither ache or pain. You have a truly wonderful remedy for women. Very sincerely yours, Mrs. Hulda Jakeman, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Just as surely as Mrs. Jakeman was cured just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman suffering from any form of female ills.

Mrs. Pinkham advises sick women free. Address, Lynn, Mass.

But, but it is by no means pleased the Empress Augusta. At last Her Majesty could put up with such an undignified and undignified son, and she had to proper, bathroom constructed in the lower regions of the palace. She had it fitted out most elaborately in every modern luxury, and surprised her husband on his birthday by taking him down to see it.

When the Empress came to the bath she found it to be a bath again he went somewhat reluctantly, and more to please his wife than himself. He was not, unfortunately, as he stepped out of the water in to the glazed tiles with which the apartment was paved, he slipped and fell, hurting himself considerably.

"Turning to his old valet, he said, 'You have had long enough of this, and therefore, until the Emperor's death, the arrangement for the bath of the path is left to you, with the Hotel de Rome—London Leader.'

LARGE FUNERAL OF JOHN COUGHLIN.

The funeral of John Coughlin, who for thirty years has been connected with the blacksmith shop of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, took place yesterday and was one of the largest which has ever left West Oakland. Death came to Mr. Coughlin in the hospital of the railroad company in San Francisco early Sunday morning. The remains were brought to his residence, 117 Seventh street, and then to St. Patrick's Church, West Oakland, where they were accompanied by the friends and associates of the deceased in this city and San Francisco. Proof of the esteem in which the deceased was held was shown by the fact that while the funeral was in progress only two out of fifteen fires in the blacksmith shop were kept burning.

Reginald miss was chanted by Rev. J. B. McNally Jr., and a fervid eulogy of the deceased was pronounced by Rev. J. B. McNally Sr., the pastor of the church. The remains were interred in St. Mary's cemetery. Rev. Father Barry officiating at the grave. Pall-bearers were P. Flynn, J. H. Loe, John Clonan, J. E. Cone, J. Colmer and E. J. Murphy.

A THRILLING PLAY AT THE DEWEY.

At the Dewey Theater last night there was a full gallery and auditorium to witness the second performance of "The Only Way," the vivid picture of life in Paris during the "Reign of Terror." The play is founded upon the story of "A Tale of Two Cities," written by Charles Dickens, and the characters are all drawn with the strength and thoroughness of these characters. The action is not lost in the dramatization and they are admirably portrayed by Mr. Stevens and his fine stock company. As Sidney Carton Mr. Stevens is seen at his best, and the same may be said of every other member of the company. There are two scenes in the piece which are thrilling in the extreme, and these are the ones in which the mob appears. More realistic scenes of this kind have not been seen on the local boards. The play will run all the week.

PRESBYTERIANS TO PAY OFF DEBT.

The members of the First Presbyterian Church are putting forth some strenuous efforts to clear their church of a debt of $8,500.

The sum of $7,000 has been pledged by the members towards lifting the indebtedness and it is expected that the remainder will be paid by the church on Sunday. The Unitarian Church recently paid off a debt of $20,000 and it has acted as a stimulus to the other churches to pay their debts.

JUDGE FIFIELD PASSES AWAY AT HIS HOME.

Prominent Lawyer Dies Suddenly at His Residence in East Oakland.

He Was Once President of the San Francisco Bar Association.

Judge W. H. Fifield, a prominent member of the San Francisco and Alameda county bars, passed away last night at his residence, 32 East Fourteenth street.

Judge Fifield, until a short time ago, was president of the San Francisco Bar Association, and has held a high place in his profession since he came to this State many years ago.

Judge Fifield was taken ill a week ago with an attack of typhoid pneumonia, and on Thursday a physician was called in to combat the serious affliction. While the skill of the physician did much to relieve the patient, his weight of years was against his recovery, he being over 58 years old.

A resident of Oakland for twenty-one years, he had always taken an active interest in the civic affairs of the Alameda County, and his demise will be the source of much regret. Judge Fifield was born in Jackson, Michigan, in 1843, and received his education at Ann Arbor in that State. He came to California about the time of the formation of the Golden State into California, and for a time was a member of the law firm of Boyd, Fifield & Cape.

Upon the retirement of Mr. Cape, Judge Fifield and Mr. Boyd formed the firm of Boyd & Fifield, and he and his colleague handled some of the largest law cases known to the courts of San Francisco.

His passing will be mourned by all who knew him.

CLEVER PERFORMANCES AT PECK'S BROADWAY.

Peck's Broadway Theater has become one of the features of downtown life in this city. It is a cozy little place at the northeast corner of Broadway and Third street, and gives several performances afternoon and evening at the remarkably low price of admission of ten cents. The program for this week is an excellent one, being varied in its features and every act being given by the best of her line of business. The first feature on the program is an excellent series of moving pictures which are applauded at every performance. Besides these, there is an excellent sketch entitled, "Just Behind the Times," by Al McKnight, and a comedy sketch, "The Character of the People of Spain," which is a character dialect comedy. Claude Canfield, the celebrated contralto, sings delightful selections, while Arthur Russell and Pearl Cough are captivating little performers who delight everybody. There will be a change of program every Saturday night.

D. H. McLAUGHLIN, The Popular Clothing Merchant, Now Identified with C. J. Heesman's Mammoth Establishment.

Mr. David H. McLaughlin, who has been established at the northwest corner of Broadway and Eleventh street for some time past, is now connected with Mr. Charles J. Heesman in his big Washington street store. Mr. McLaughlin is a valuable acquisition to the firm, and his many associates with him have a happy faculty of making friends and keeping them, being courteous and obliging at all times. It is no wonder his friends are legion. He is a practical clothing man, having been in the business since youth, and Mr. Heesman has reason to congratulate himself in being affiliated with such a genial gentleman as Mr. McLaughlin, who will certainly make Mr. Heesman's favorite store more popular than ever.

TELLS OF GREAT MEN.

Senator Perkins Lectures Before the Men's League at West Oakland.

Pays an Eloquent Tribute to McKinley — Advice to Young Men.

Senator Perkins delivered an eloquent address last night before the members and guests of the Men's League of the Union Street Presbyterian Church on the topic, "Public Men I Have Met."

McKinley was a man of the people, genial, conscientious and deeply religious. He attended church regularly and joined in the singing. He paid attention to the sermon and was in all respects an ideal American. No President outside of Lincoln was as close to the hearts of the plain people of America as this plain man of action. He knew the horrors of war and said when the difficulty with Spain arose, if they will only give me time, I will try and settle this trouble without war, as I know the suffering a resort to arms will cause, and perhaps diplomacy can bring about an honorable adjustment of this impending conflict.

The blowing up of the Maine destroyed all hope of an amicable settlement of the affair. When Congress voted unanimously $50,000,000 to carry on the war, President McKinley went forward with bravery and showed admirable firmness in his line of duty.

"While he was President, any man could go to the White House and be made welcome by the Chief Executive with a hearty hand-shake and a cordial greeting. He seemed to feel like Lincoln, that God must love the plain people or He would never have made so many of them."

"The war with Spain was worth all it cost, as it welded the North and South together and made our flag respected at home and abroad."

"I believe President Roosevelt will carry out the policy of our late Chief Magistrate and earn the gratitude of all American citizens."

"Samuelson and Schley are brave Americans, and the present controversy is a deplorable one which can be productive of no good."

"I believe in a great navy, as I regard it as the best bond we can give for the safety of this glorious republic."

"Leland Stanford was one of our greatest Americans. His monument is a great school of learning where any man's son can go and prepare himself for the strenuous affairs of life."

"The great builder of the first transcontinental railroad, was at one time a 'War Governor,' and showed his patriotic fidelity to the Constitution and the Stars and Stripes."

"While I was on the Naval Committee, I met that great benefactor, Mr. Carnegie, and Senator Tillman inquired of him why he asked the Government so high a price for his armor plate. Mr. Carnegie said: 'Gentlemen, money was no object to me in making this armor plate, for the navy of my adopted country. I put $2,000,000 into the plate and would have put $4,000,000 more if it necessary.'"

"Mr. Schwab, the man who receives $50,000 a year as his salary, was a poor boy at one time and has worked his way up step by step, but he did not smoke cigarettes or stay out nights."

"Cash registers make no man honest, and I have met as noble men in the mining camps and in the forecastle of a ship as I have in the halls of Congress. I want to say to the young man that in this land all have a chance to rise, and it is the building of your own character that will make you worthy of the highest office in the land."

"I have seen human nature in all its phases, and it is the character of a man who gets the office. Character makes men everywhere, and should the man be found wanting in this respect, the ballot box, that sacred urn of the republic, will rebuke him."

"Let us resolve to do our duty as citizens of this commonwealth and say in the language of the great poet: 'Lives of great men all remind us. We can make our lives sublime, And, departing, leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time.'"

A short musical program preceded the Senator's remarks, in which the Misses Sherwood and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bradley took part.

Refreshments were served after the address by the members of the Men's League, which has for its officers the following gentlemen: W. K. Matthews, president; David E. Parker, secretary, and H. H. Gribben, treasurer.

The Men's League was founded about two years ago by Rev. Dr. J. E. Potter, pastor of the Union Street Presbyterian Church, and has for its aims the intellectual and moral development of the young men of West Oakland. The organization has a large membership and is steadily growing in influence among the people of the city. Some time ago Elwood General Fuston addressed the League, and his remarks were listened to with much interest.

A CLEVER THIEF.
Chief of Police Hodgkins arrested one Robert Rose, alias Lane, today and locked him up at the City Prison, as he is wanted in San Francisco on a charge of burglary. Rose is a clever thief and gains entrance to a dwelling under pretense of being a dealer in lottery tickets.

High School Teacher Says Angels Are Wanted in the Public Schools.

Gives the Board of Education a Rare Roast for Cutting Down Salaries.

Miss Elizabeth Packard, head of the English and history department of the Oakland High school, prepared the following paper for publication dealing with the subject: "A Teacher's Qualifications."

"Now for what qualifications of temperament and character are we to strive? The public modestly demands one thing only of its teachers—that they be not even a little lower than the angels. Just at present, in this 'Athens of the Pacific,' the angels would be especially desirable on the High school faculty, because, supposedly, they need neither food nor payment, but must give of their intermittent salaries and discounted warrants toward the maintenance of the High school."

"The other trait, that sometimes makes the teacher's life seem scarcely worth living, is the tendency of outsiders to criticize the profession, particularly through the newspapers, in the innumerable instances of us being composed of individuals like the law or medicine. One never-doesel black pedagogical sheep drinks too much whiskey. Hence it is proposed that 'the teachers' be ordered not to get tips—a gratuitous insult to the man honest and honest-looking who loathe whiskey. Although that precise sample may never have appeared in print, one city of Southern California actually forbade teachers going out on school nights, and another legislated that the lady teachers should be reprimanded if they rode a bicycle on the main thoroughfares. Last winter the San Francisco press held a symposium to decide whether 'the teachers' should be prohibited from wearing pedicures, riding skirts on muddy streets and school house halls plastered with petroleum, dust and germs, all of which is the beauty of being a public servant in this free republic."

"The teachers' are not to be considered ex-officio an expert in all lines. Yet, fancy a printed communication insisting that City Attorneys be denied the right to wear paid neckties in court, and officers kept from riding in automobiles."

"I have seen human nature in all its phases, and it is the character of a man who gets the office. Character makes men everywhere, and should the man be found wanting in this respect, the ballot box, that sacred urn of the republic, will rebuke him."

"Let us resolve to do our duty as citizens of this commonwealth and say in the language of the great poet: 'Lives of great men all remind us. We can make our lives sublime, And, departing, leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time.'"

A short musical program preceded the Senator's remarks, in which the Misses Sherwood and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bradley took part.

Refreshments were served after the address by the members of the Men's League, which has for its officers the following gentlemen: W. K. Matthews, president; David E. Parker, secretary, and H. H. Gribben, treasurer.

The Men's League was founded about two years ago by Rev. Dr. J. E. Potter, pastor of the Union Street Presbyterian Church, and has for its aims the intellectual and moral development of the young men of West Oakland. The organization has a large membership and is steadily growing in influence among the people of the city. Some time ago Elwood General Fuston addressed the League, and his remarks were listened to with much interest.

High School Teacher Says Angels Are Wanted in the Public Schools.

Gives the Board of Education a Rare Roast for Cutting Down Salaries.

Miss Elizabeth Packard, head of the English and history department of the Oakland High school, prepared the following paper for publication dealing with the subject: "A Teacher's Qualifications."

"Now for what qualifications of temperament and character are we to strive? The public modestly demands one thing only of its teachers—that they be not even a little lower than the angels. Just at present, in this 'Athens of the Pacific,' the angels would be especially desirable on the High school faculty, because, supposedly, they need neither food nor payment, but must give of their intermittent salaries and discounted warrants toward the maintenance of the High school."

"The other trait, that sometimes makes the teacher's life seem scarcely worth living, is the tendency of outsiders to criticize the profession, particularly through the newspapers, in the innumerable instances of us being composed of individuals like the law or medicine. One never-doesel black pedagogical sheep drinks too much whiskey. Hence it is proposed that 'the teachers' be ordered not to get tips—a gratuitous insult to the man honest and honest-looking who loathe whiskey. Although that precise sample may never have appeared in print, one city of Southern California actually forbade teachers going out on school nights, and another legislated that the lady teachers should be reprimanded if they rode a bicycle on the main thoroughfares. Last winter the San Francisco press held a symposium to decide whether 'the teachers' should be prohibited from wearing pedicures, riding skirts on muddy streets and school house halls plastered with petroleum, dust and germs, all of which is the beauty of being a public servant in this free republic."

"The teachers' are not to be considered ex-officio an expert in all lines. Yet, fancy a printed communication insisting that City Attorneys be denied the right to wear paid neckties in court, and officers kept from riding in automobiles."

"I believe in a great navy, as I regard it as the best bond we can give for the safety of this glorious republic."

"Leland Stanford was one of our greatest Americans. His monument is a great school of learning where any man's son can go and prepare himself for the strenuous affairs of life."

"The great builder of the first transcontinental railroad, was at one time a 'War Governor,' and showed his patriotic fidelity to the Constitution and the Stars and Stripes."

"While I was on the Naval Committee, I met that great benefactor, Mr. Carnegie, and Senator Tillman inquired of him why he asked the Government so high a price for his armor plate. Mr. Carnegie said: 'Gentlemen, money was no object to me in making this armor plate, for the navy of my adopted country. I put $2,000,000 into the plate and would have put $4,000,000 more if it necessary.'"

"Mr. Schwab, the man who receives $50,000 a year as his salary, was a poor boy at one time and has worked his way up step by step, but he did not smoke cigarettes or stay out nights."

"Cash registers make no man honest, and I have met as noble men in the mining camps and in the forecastle of a ship as I have in the halls of Congress. I want to say to the young man that in this land all have a chance to rise, and it is the building of your own character that will make you worthy of the highest office in the land."

"I have seen human nature in all its phases, and it is the character of a man who gets the office. Character makes men everywhere, and should the man be found wanting in this respect, the ballot box, that sacred urn of the republic, will rebuke him."
